

Hi J,

I know you hate reading emails. I thought about calling you. But, it seems difficult to carry on any sort of serious “father/son” talks on a phone now days. So, hopefully, you will take this one for what it’s worth. Try to understand that I’M VERY WORRIED... for you, Molly, Darryn, anyone living in North America, et al. It’s not the end of the world... yet. But, bear with me.

There are 3 or 4 MAJOR things I’m worried about (I’ll get to them below). But first a bit of history or a refresher course of sorts.

My entire 69 year long life we, as a family (my dad, mom, grandparents, and even you boys while growing up), went through some strange times – up and downs, so to speak. But there always seemed to be some light at the end of each tunnel. Overall, living in the USA was about as good as it gets. Land of the free, home of the brave, etc. Most folks were patriotic and there was far less division vs. now days. We lived (pass tense) in a FREE WORLD; while I was growing up. There were communists running around, but far less than, say, the 1%. Mom and dad could get a job just about any time they wanted to. If they worked hard they could earn enough to get by and put food on the table. They never had to file bankruptcy, or give their home back to the bank, etc. (like folks had to back in the depression... or...). The same was true for most of us up through about 2005. Earning a decent living was possible for even a single earner family. And being married was the norm vs. the problem it is now days (1970’s onward anyway). You got paid pretty good and you could afford a home and a car, or two, and pay the bills and put food on the table and take a trip once in a while and, for the most part, someone who was considered “middle class” had a pretty safe, secure, happy life to lead.

And GOVERNMENT, per se, wasn’t nearly as corrupt as it is now days.

Now, don’t get me wrong. There were times when mom and dad (your grandparents) had to struggle through the depression when they were growing up. And dad did have to go fight in Korea and nearly die in that war.

And everyone knows what a fuck fest the Vietnam war was (which I luckily did not get drafted for) and how all the libtard communists protested that war. First they killed Kennedy (1963); so LBJ could do everything possible to get our troops killed; vs winning that war (1964/65, when I was 10, to 1973, my 1st yr @ 19 in college). Nixon finally got elected, in 1969, and he got serious and clobbered the north with B-52s and basically won the war (before he resigned, thanks to Watergate) and then brought almost all our troops home in ’73 (just like Trump tried to do in the middle east); so the libtards could spit on them. And then the communist loving demoncraps figured out how to take over congress and let the communist north attack the south, once again, in 1975 and take over the south without us helping them (except for the boat people who managed to escape) as promised back in 1973 (not unlike Biden when he gave away Afghanistan, stranded everyone and gave all our hardware to the Taliban recently). And, thanks to the demoncraps in congress back then, everyone now gets to claim we lost that war; when the communist demoncraps actually gave it all away instead... truth be known. The problem is most folks, in your generation and mine, never got any real history courses while growing up. Gresham High, where I went, did have good history classes, so some of us who lived through it had a better idea what had really taken place vs. all the media hype and propaganda that started showing up on TV and in the movies (to brain wash my parents and all the college students back in those days).

And, “in those days”, while I was in high school back in the ’70s, mom and dad had to wait in gas lines more than once... just to get to work. It only took the demoncraps, under Carter (demoncraps always know how to fuck things up), four years, ’77 to ’81, to get inflation going good and to get interest rates on homes to rise up through the roof to kill the housing market (houses back then rose in price, on average, from apx $23K up to $55K, if you can believe that... now look at what a house costs??).

By the time Reagan got elected, and they let the hostages in Iran go, inflation was so bad that it took Reagan and his Fed Bank chair, Paul Volcker, most of Reagan's 8 years in office just to get rates back down under 10%; while taking down the Berlin wall and getting the USSR to collapse without firing a shot. Yet to this day the communist demoncraps will try to tell you Reagan was one of the worst Presidents ever, just like they say with Bush and Trump. President Bush (Sr.) came next and finished getting rates and the economy back under control (under Greenspan). By the time Clinton got elected we had enough GOP members left in congress that they gave Clinton the "Contract with America" and Clinton got all the credit for having a fairly good economy in the USA once again (the demoncraps always take credit for anything good that happens and blame the GOP for anything bad... which is always how they get in power).

Anyway, the Reagan years up through most of the GW Bush years, at least (1979 when I got my job in Seattle, after college, until 2004, before the 2008 recession), were fairly good years, economically; except for the "dot com bubble" (just a blip really) and after 09/11/2001, which triggered all the shit by us going back into the middle east again.

Bottom line... You guys grew up and went to school in a fairly good world, so far as I was concerned.

Topics - HISTORY

So, what is there to worry about NOW??

You can probably figure out what I'm about to say on your own, IF you have time to pay attention to it. But, here's my concerns none-the-less...

1. The Marxist Libtard Demoncraps are not only in charge of D.C. but they are in charge of almost every large city in the USA. And they are doing everything possible, right out in broad daylight, and without any major pushback at all, to crawl in bed with all the other communists on the planet as well. All of this woke, diversity, you are a racist, BLM, ANTIFA, white supremacist, LGBTQIA+, global warming, critical race theology, ESG, WEF, WHO, WTO, DOJ/FBI, Jan 6 crap is their latest game plan to go all out and destroy (or control) any and all remaining free countries that are left on the planet. President Eisenhower warned about the "domino theory" which people totally blew off once Vietnam was taken by the communists. Keep in mind that China, which supported North Korea in that war and North Vietnam in the other war (thus North Korea, Vietnam, etc.), under Mao, was finally controlled by the communists, in large part, thanks to Russian/Marxist influence and support during and after WWII (Lenin, Stalin up to Putin) even though there are still some freedom loving Chinese holding out on Taiwan for now; as well as the South Koreans, Japanese, Philippines and Australians. It's only a matter of time, though, before Taiwan falls just like Hong Kong fell a while back; probably while Biden is still in office. (Lois just went there for a week and then on to South Korea. It will be interesting to see what she learns if/when she gets back.) If Taiwan goes to China you can kiss all chip manufacturing control good-bye. Anything made in Taiwan will be programmed to spy on anyone who buys anything with chips in it from then on... unless the USA ramps up production once again here at home; which I doubt will ever happen in time.
2. Next we have Russia and China (history will repeat itself) teaming up, under Putin and Xi, to fuck over nearly every country, like Ukraine, that has not gone full on communist YET. With Biden in charge just about anything bad, and nothing good, will probably happen between now and the end of this year. If the war in Ukraine lasts much longer food supplies will keep on going down and prices will keep on going up (not to mention all the other destruction and suffering those poor bastards in Ukraine are dealing with all over again). In the meantime the EU is also being infiltrated, just like Canada and the USA are, with communists who are trying to destroy food and energy supplies (via global warming tactics). The EU/NATO nations act like they are happy to freeze and starve themselves into submission. And they are not showing much in terms of fighting Putin either. Not as long as Biden wants to bankrupt the USA doing it instead. Plus, the EU is being overrun by immigrants just like here in the USA thanks to Biden and all his peers in the EU. Diversity will be anything but a strength when both the EU and USA are bankrupted, inflated and starved to death by high priced commodities and all these bogus plans the libtards cook up. Mark my words, the “globalists” are chipping away at anything free and civilized that they can while hoping to generate as much chaos and economic upheaval as possible. And it is WORKING! Riots and Covid lockdowns while framing Trump left and right.

3. China is taking over nearly every country it can and all the key resources they can gain control of; slowly but surely (and Russia is going to be their latest puppet regime any day now). Do you know how many countries China already has control over?? Think about this. “From Xi’s perspective, it is critical that Beijing rewrite the rules to better suit its interests and, more broadly, those of authoritarian states. Simply, Xi intends to flip the global hierarchy, placing illiberal governments and ideals at its apex. ... Take, for instance, the Belt and Road Initiative...” Add to that rather illuminating article the fact that China kills around 100,000 dope users annually (not that I care) in the USA via the Mexican cartels which Biden (thanks to open borders) and China (the cartels’ drug and money laundering kingpin) are making richer by the day, to the tune of $billions a year, and it won’t be long now before corruption takes over completely. China is also taking control of key ports and infrastructure (like the Panama Canal) to one day control trade, etc. If they are not stopped their plan to rule the world in short order will happen sooner than you think; and Biden is in their back pocket, helping as much as he can, BTW (watch the news).
4. Inflation and the Fed... Between the demoncraps and the GOP RINOs in congress, Biden and the swamp/DOJ, and the Fed, it is hard telling who is worse. Inflation, bank failures and stock market volatility are just the tip of the iceberg. Next it will be another housing market crash and even longer food lines (with less and less food), once millions start losing jobs; and the USA and Canada will soon join Mexico, central America, Venezuela and, recently, Brazil as failed states. Our national debt is finally maxed out and congress is still going to keep pumping it even higher. It will only take one or two more straws and the camel’s back will break.

Anyway, those are just the four main reasons I worry about you guys. My entire life I have never seen this much shit about to hit the fan all at once. And most folks, seriously, have no clue how to prepare for what is probably going to happen in the next 12 months. If you want to, we can chat more about this over the phone. Lois is gone for a two week, look the other way, vacation. So, I have nothing but time on my hands (which is probably why I worry so much). I just hope you guys can hunker down and maybe tighten your belts and don’t end up holding the shit end of the stick one of these days.

And, BTW, if I were you (and considering you have a lot more storage space to use and debt racked up than we do), I’d strongly think about building up a supply of as much canned food as you can afford. If work goes south and income goes with it, or you tap out your savings (if any), and you can’t keep up on your house payments, and you can’t sell it (like what happened back in 2008+), at least you can pack a trailer full of non-perishable food and get by for a while. It is very possible another full on depression and chaos is right around the corner. Hopefully it won’t get that bad. But it has before and it can again. So, think about it and try your best to plan for the worst... while you hope/pray for the best.

Just my $.02... for what it is worth.

Love you guys,

Dad
