Subject: WTF!!!

All over FOX News tonight (Tucker, Laura, etc.) they are siding with the MLD media's take (CNN, MSNBC, etc.) on George W. Bush's 9/11 speech from this weekend; focusing on the following words and then somehow deciding to flame him as though his words were directed at the Jan 6 protesters?? When I listened to the speech that is nowhere near how it came across to me. Am I losing my mind [as noted in brackets] and have I (or FOX News?) perhaps lost the ability to understand the English language now?

You tell me...

Key part of Bush's speech, per NBC News... "And we have seen growing evidence that the dangers to our country can come not only across borders [thanks to Biden's illegals], but from violence that gathers within [rising crime everywhere... true]. There is little cultural overlap between violent extremists abroad and violent extremists at home [extremist Islam and Marxism... also true]," Bush said, seemingly [WTF?] referencing the Jan. 6 Capitol riot. [I see ZERO reference to the Jan 6 folks here... but NBC News creates it out of whole cloth anyway.]

"But in their disdain for pluralism [MLD/CRT activists do, in fact, disdain pluralism... a supposed strength(?)... while turning white against black (or black against white) every chance they get], in their disregard for human life [killing offspring in the womb, and each other in the streets], in their determination to defile national symbols [BLM and ANTIFA have been vandalizing anything they can, burning down stores, robbing and looting, MLDs are removing history/statues and they've been doing this for years now... with organized backing from the MLDs], they are children of the same foul spirit [true]. And it is our continuing duty to confront them [also true... and again I see ZERO direct reference to the Jan 6 folks here]," he said.

Bush should have been clearer on exactly what groups he was directing his comments towards. By leaving it open to interpretation now most of the media has jumped on the "fuck the Jan 6 protestors" band wagon all over again... and zero said about BLM or Antifa.

I wonder if Bush will ever get a chance to explain his words or if he'll even want to scrape the dog shit off his shoes after that one?

Thoughts?

I heard his speech and immediately determined he was referencing BLM riots based on his reference to "in their determination to defile national symbols" but I suspect he may have wanted to include the 1-6-2021 capitol riot in his condemnation of home terrorism assuming he is classifying it as such. You and I don't see it as domestic terrorism, but if that was our view, then we would agree with Bush's condemnation of it. So, if cornered, I suspect he would say he was including them in his reference to problems at home. I am not a Bush fan, and perceive him as part of the deep state. One of the old time republicans. I have been asking for years now, just what was the difference between the Bush 8 years and the Obama 8 years. They both ushered in more trouble than solutions during their time in power. Neither one ever accomplished anything like the Trump 4 years. Remember the entire Bush family had a big problem with how Trump took down Jeb Bush. It is personal for them besides being more RINO than part of the current conservative grass roots movement. Also remember, Bush is personal friends with the Clintons and the Obamas after he was out of office. They see themselves as cut from the same cloth and just maybe they are.

Agree 100%. As Trump would say, "Sad..." that the media in our country can't pick up on the key phrase the way we the deplorables are able to. At least Laura Ingraham said his statements could cover all factions from far right to far left. Tucker came from CNN originally and is firmly anti-war and blames a lot on Bush as well. So he readily agreed that Bush was after the Jan 6 protesters. Bush is more measured in his approach to politics having been a governor, etc. He knows the swamp and how easily it can suck you under, so he took a lot of shit during his 8 years and rolled with it. At least he went after the terrorists, which I fully supported and still do (but it took way too long to finally surge the troops vs. performing some sort of measured war on the cheap). The problem is politicians are never all in. It is not in their nature to be all in. As a result terrorism, like Covid, will be with us forever. It is evil out in the daylight and 95% of the world's population simply does not want it eradicated. So, 20 years later and guys like brain fart Biden come along (thanks to all the MLD voters) and feed the beast and revive it to full strength once again, just so they can feel like 'leaders' of some cause; even though it backfires on them each and every time.

As far as I am concerned there are several groups of protesters who were involved in the Jan 6 event: (A) MLD infiltrators who caused any/all damage, such as breaking windows, doors, etc. and attacking cops to get the cops to react against the rest of the protesters and to set the stage for the MLD media, party and RINO's like Cheney to condemn all Trump supporters; (B) the poorly led militia groups, who are mostly patriotic Americans and were dead serious about keeping MLDs like Biden out of office and for justifiable reasons, so they too trespassed w/o causing any major harm, as a show of force (many are now behind bars as a result); (C) the poor smucks like Ashli Babbitt who were also very patriotic and just wanted to stop the steal, but have now been caught up in the crossfire and have suffered far greater retribution than they ever deserved as a result; (D) all the other Trump supporters who were allowed inside by Capitol Police, through open doors, and who milled around and got spotted via photo ops and who are also suffering far greater retribution than they ever deserved; and (E) the rest of the Trump supporting protesters who stayed outside and who are both patriotic and law abiding, who never did anything close to wrong, but even some of those are being wrongfully condemned, jailed and prosecuted by the MLD DOJ... which is yet one more reason we the people need to drain the swamp, using force if it ever comes to that... IMHO.

The main problem with Trump is he exposed the MLDs which really pissed them off and then it took him 4 years to figure out how the MLD swamp really operates, how bad they really are (worse than the Taliban truth be known) and what it will take to deal with all the entrenched MLDs roaming around DC, NY, CA, et al. And, even though he may have a pretty good idea what needs to happen, even he won't be able to rally the required "resistance force/underground" need to clean house the hard way.

So, if I were him I'd retire. He took his best shot. He has shined the light on DC and DC is now eating its own, which is a good thing. But, he has family and money and an empire he created, which he needs to protect and, thus, he has too much to lose. So, unless he and his entire family are super patriots and they are 100% willing to fund a true resistance and get serious about draining the swamp and re-installing a patriotic, constitutional governance and administration once again (come hell or high water) then, if I were him, I'd just stand clear and wait for the grass roots to finally rise up and take care of business one of these days (as in when hell finally freezes over)... probably after the MLD party totally destroys the economy and turns the one world order's power over to China for the next 100+ years to come.

Very good comments!

Our side needs to always act knowing any response from the other side will be over the top. BLM can riot and destroy and kill with a media that encourages them, a liberal government legitimizing them, and liberal big business funding them. Trump supporters get a little upset because of a stolen election and break a few rules (stupidly or maybe as you suggest suckered into it) and are labeled domestic terrorists and jailed as criminals where their personal lives are completely destroyed financially and as well as their reputations. No one is helping them, not even you or me. The current government will destroy them as much as they can. The libtards ~~because they~~ hate all deplorables and even the so called conservatives because they don't want to be associated with a media false label of domestic terrorists. BLM on the other hand has the NFL spending $250 million this year on social justice endeavors, including singing the Black National Anthem at every NFL game they play this year. I want to watch football, so I try to ignore the offense I feel while it is happening.

FUCK BLM and their Black National Anthem!!

IF Lois would stop watching football I'd never watch it again. She records the Seahawks games (no idea exactly why she got hooked on them over a few other teams she started following... probably because she likes Wilson and Carroll) and then tempts me into watching with her while we cuddle in bed; gives us a reason to be close to each other. She's pretty good at manipulating me into overlooking the libtards' agendas and simply enjoying the "big show". It's like in the movie Jerry Maguire – show me the money!! Just more money slaves. So, no way I'll get addicted to it like some folks. NBA is even worse. I quit watching them play 50 years ago. Thank god Lois has never watched basketball (not a big deal in Canada). I've always been more of a baseball guy, so I did get Lois a bit turned on to baseball several years ago when I took her and the boys out to dinner and an M's game; I explained the rules and why there are so many close plays IF you have enough patience to pay attention during the long 9 innings. The excitement of the crowd kind of worked its magic on her too, I guess. She's smart enough that she started to get into the details of both sports and will watch some games each season on TV. But, even MLB is being corrupted. So, WTF can I say? I think I'm going to try and get Lois to shift into watching college ball, though. Problem is there are so many leagues and the better games are hard to come by up here on BC TV. Either way, though, pro sports are just getting too corrupted as far as I am concerned. Always has been actually. But it is entertaining, at least. So, a couple bowls of popcorn, skipping all the TV ads via a recorded game now and then, and holding Lois in my arms while we watch a game is a pretty good way to spend a few hours with the true love of my life. ;^)

Don't blame you for changing the subject. It is way too depressing to watch the country circle the drain and not know how to save it in the process.

BTW.

The whole idea of getting these fucking Covid tests, in order to get back home to BC, is turning into a real cluster fuck. Lois had to pay $200 just to get on a plane and go on her trip to Romania via Germany last week. No idea what she will spend to get tested so she can come back home this Sunday. Probably $200 more. At least the lab I got my last test from only charged $90 so I could go back home... And, so far, knock on wood, brain dead Biden and his MLD CDC haven't figured out how to keep U.S. citizens from coming into our own country quite yet (while working on getting folks fired off their own jobs instead). I guess if you let illegals in for free it would look bad if you forced your own citizens to be Covid cleared to re-enter the USA also.
